INFORMATION PACKET

CONFIRMED METHODS OF OPERATION

- Concept: Sports and Readiness Day this year will be held at various locations on Peterson Space Force Base, with multiple events scheduled throughout the day. The event is intended as a fun day with a competitive nature. The focus of the program is to promote camaraderie and a sense of cohesion amongst all the units and to provide a day away from the stresses of the work environment. Everyone should be encouraged to participate in at least one event and/or act as a volunteer. Points will be awarded based on participation, both as a competitor and as a volunteer, as well as points awarded for event winners. First through fourth place finishers earn points for most competitions.
- Competition Categories: Participants will sign up for events according to the unit/squadron they are assigned. Based on the historical number of participants, each squadron has been assigned to a large, medium, or small category. See page 4 for specific units and categorizations.

 2. Participation Points: One point is given for each individual and two points per team for participation in each event competed in. More than one entry per squadron or unit in an event is permitted, each entry receives participation points. A no-show/forfeit results in two participation points being taken away from the team.

Thirty (30) volunteer points represents 15 different individuals volunteering for 1 hour per person. Crosschecks will be done. Event managers earn 10-points for their squadron. - Male & Female 100 meter dash, 200 Male & Female meter dash, 400 meter Male & Female meter dash

TRACK

Two event managers, Supplies: check out one stopwatch, one whistle, and clipboard from Fitness Center.

- The 100, 200, 400-meter events will be run in heats with prelims and finals. Women's pre-limes first then Men's alternating them Women's finals then Men's finals. The base track is four lanes wide so heats will be of four persons and this will allow for only the first-place finisher to advance to the finals. In the prelims no times will be recorded, only the first-place finishers name will be recorded and advance to the finals. Sheets with lane indicators and competitor's names on it will be provided. These heats are set up randomly on the basis in which they are received. If a curve is incorporated in either race then the start will be staggered and not side by side, to allow for curve difference in lanes. Each complete heat should use up only 2-4 minutes worth of elapsed time to complete. It's a quick pace and after a race is announced there will be only a two-minute waiting period for competitors to get to the start line before being disqualified.
- It takes only 10-20 seconds to run the race but a few practice starts will be incorporated 1min., set in the human blocks (Starter does this with these commands "Runners take your mark", "Set", Bang), make sure finish judges are ready and have a signal between starter and finish judges before start, like a flag waved or something, a gun or whistle or even better still a canned horn would be good to start the race. Total elapsed time for one heat should only be 4 minutes max before start of next heat.

- A judge will position themselves behind competitors with a flag or handkerchief to check for false starts. This person throws their flag up when that happens, the starter re-sounds the start mechanism, which stops the race and brings all back to start line. Two false starts eliminates competitor. Finish Judge notes the name of only the first place finisher in each heat and tells them they advance to the finals, which are to be held in 20 minutes, or so after the women's finals or men's prelims whichever the case may be. More than one finish line judge will be at finish to check for results. It's not until we get to the finals that stopwatches will be used, and times recorded.
- Female prelims will be run first in the 100 meter dash (approx. 22 minutes elapsed time duration if 20 contestants enroll) then male 100 meter dash prelims (approx. 35-40 minutes elapsed time duration with 40 contestants), then to the finals of the females (8 minutes with eight competitors, 4 minutes each heat max) and then the finals of the men's (With 10 finalists run three heats of 3,3 and 4 so max of 12 minutes duration elapsed time). This method allows for rest between prelims and finals. In the finals there will be 4-lane judges each with a stopwatch. They will report their lanes finishing time to the statistician or keeper of the finals heat sheets. Only the first four finisher's male and female will get points for their squadron. All competitors get one participation point.
- Manning requirements are as follows: 4 start judges with flags or handkerchiefs to check for false start as well as 4 finish line judges with watches, 1 starter with blow horn, whistle or cap gun, 1 statistician who records prelim finish names and prepares the finals heat sheets and records finals times and 1 event monitor with the blow horn who more or less directs the race, announces next heats, etc. and keeps things on a regular fast tempo pace. Total manning requirement is 11 persons.

Note: Starting blocks are not available for the track events. Each competitor has an option and can start from an upright position at the start line or each competitor who has a friend he/she provides, can start from a crouch position. The friend creates a start brace with their feet so the competitor can crouch down, one knee in front of the other, so the competitor can get the explosive start off their friend's feet which are firmly placed on the ground.

Mario Kart-

Mario Kart 8 is a popular kart racing game known for its vibrant tracks, a diverse cast of Nintendo characters, and item-based combat that can turn the tide of a race at any moment. While it has a competitive scene, it's often enjoyed casually for its chaotic and unpredictable fun.

Super Smash Brothers-

Super Smash Bros. is a fighting game series where iconic Nintendo characters (and some from other franchises) battle on dynamic stages, aiming to launch opponents off the screen to win. Its fast-paced, strategic gameplay and deep character rosters make it a staple in the competitive fighting game community.

Rocket League-

1v1 Rocket League is a unique esports title that combines soccer with vehicular combat, where players control rocket-powered cars to hit an oversized ball into their opponent's goal. This format emphasizes individual mechanical skill, precise aerial maneuvers, and strategic decision-making in a high-octane environment.
